

Boxer CURTIS COKES

June 15, 1937 - May 29, 2020

Thessalonians 4:13 “But I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope.”

Curtis (Bevo) Cokes died May 29, 2020, at the age of 82, in Dallas, TX. Curtis was born on June 15, 1937, in Corsicana, TX, to Nathaniel Cokes, Sr., and Emma Cokes. Curtis had various careers in life, but his most fulfilling one was realized on November 28, 1966, when he won the WBA/WBC World Welterweight Title. Curtis was famous for his training regime, which he instilled in the boxers he trained at his gym “The Home of Champions.” Curtis was inducted into the International Boxing Hall of Fame in 2003, Texas Black Sports Hall of Fame 2001, and the Texas Sports Hall of Fame in 1984. Curtis also made one film appearance in 1972, in the John Huston film, Fat City, alongside future Academy Award winner, Jeff Bridges, and Stacy Keach. Curtis is survived by: his two sons, Curtis Cokes, Jr., and Vincent H. Cokes; his four daughters: Sharla (Cokes) Emerson, Vashiti Cokes, Tammi (Cokes) Anderson, and Stephanie (Cokes) Jackson; sister, Mary Helen (Cokes) Thomas; brothers, Joe Cokes and Robert Cokes; along with a host of great-great-grandchildren, great-grandchildren, grandchildren, nieces, nephews, and many friends and associates. Curtis was genuinely loved by all. He was preceded in death by his parents; and four brothers, Nathaniel Cokes, Jr., Charles Edward Cokes, Jake Donald Cokes, and Earnest M. Cokes.

“ April 18, 2021 Mr. Curtis Cokes has been an important part of our family for a very long time. My father, Neil Ferguson, had been in his own right, an amateur prizefighter in the golden gloves and always maintained a real love of boxing. One day, he walked into the gym in Dallas, Texas and met Mr. Curtis Cokes and his manager, Cornbread. Mr. Robert Smith AKA, Cornbread, had his photograph taken and my father soon thereafter painted a portrait of him for Curtis. (It would be wonderful to know if the family still has the portrait of Cornbread, after all of these many years.) Later on, Mr. Ferguson took his family to New Orleans to see Curtis in a very important prize fight. We stayed at the glamorous Monteleone Hotel. My father was seated in the auditorium crowd and took a great action photograph that preceded his painting of Curtis, himself. In 1977, my father contacted Curtis to let him know of his terminal fight with cancer. The painting of Mr. Cokes is now in the possession of his brother, Bill Ferguson in Nacogdoches, Texas. My father's leather boxing gloves were also passed onto his brother. As Neil's daughter, I was a RN at Presbyterian Hospital for many years. One day, I was assigned to care for a lady who had the last name of, Cokes. I was thrilled to have met and cared for Curtis's sister! My father, always had a real admiration for Mr. Cokes. His physical talent and his love of boxing inspired so many others. I am glad we had this small but meaningful connection to Curtis. We send the Cokes family our prayers and sincere condolences for the loss of Mr. Cokes.

“ I worked with Curtis at Sewell Cadillac along with Hugh, I got a copy of their book about 20 years ago and send to Curtis to sign-- I asked him to sign it real --"big"-- Mark, Keep Punching! I had forgotten he nick named me "Big Mark" , He signed BIG MARK- Keep Punching ! I bought a good jump rope one day and took it back to me and asked if he could show me how it worked? What a lesson. At the Texas Boxing he promoted I knew I was seeing greatness when Angelo Dundee came to assist! I Great Man to know and Miss.

Blessing to the Family, Mark Tilton, Tucson Az.

“ Mr. Cokes was my neighbor when I first moved to East Dallas. Although we did not know him well, and only found out after the family moved away that he was a renowned champion, we always felt that he provided strength, calm, wisdom and peace to our neighborhood. We are very sorry that he has passed away.

To my Godfather Curtis Cokes & Family. He was my mentor, friend and father-like to me and my communities (Oak Cliff, Highland Hills, Redbird, Singing Hills, and Lancaster). Curtis gentleness, love, compassion and knowledge effected all of us from -Adults, Teens & Children's including South Dallas, East Dallas, North Dallas & West Dallas. Curtis has made a huge impact on my life that I will never forget, always remember also appreciate. He fought a good fight, he kept the fight. Rest in God's Arm's Curtis... we'll meet again in Heaven!

“Curtis was a good friend of my Father, such a good friend that they collaborated and wrote a book together! Curtis has been a great example to me all my life; when I was 10, Curtis picnicked with 100s of children at Flagpole Hill through the Police Athletic League. What a moving site to look out over that sea of happy kiddos and hear Curtis say, “Those are my kids.” When I was 13, he and his wife ate Thanksgiving Dinner at our house. I had a friend over and Curtis called him “champ”! Curtis had a way of letting people know they were cared for. To his family, thank you for sharing your precious Curtis with us- he made Dallas a better place. We all need to be a “Curtis” to this hurting and broken world. God’s comfort to you all.
Most sincerely,

“ I am now 74 years old and can look back at the positive influence Curtis had on my life. I met him at the old ‘Cornbread’ Jones gym on Deep Ellum in the ‘60s during Golden Gloves. Both Curtis and his brothers were so special to all the others around them. Curtis has always been a champion and will continue to be so in my heart. A class gentleman in every respect! My prayers, thanks, and love to this fine family.
