“ Damian I miss you so very much. You're the greatest cousin/brother that I ever had. I will cherish every memory we have ever created. I'm having a hard time with this but I'm carrying the love I have for you forward. To my family I sending prayers and hugs your way. May God give us the strength we need during this time. Love you all.

“ I’m still in disbelief. We just talked, D. I’m so glad the last words we exchanged were pleasant and prompt. In life, so many people regret the last things they said or didn’t get to say to someone, but I’m so glad I responded to your last text message even though I was getting ready for bed and thought to myself I’d respond in the morning. I’m glad I responded when I did. I’m so blessed to have met you. A coworker turned friend turned family. I’m grateful for all the laughs and jokes and even support during hard times. It’s still amazing to me how you could uplift people around you even when you were having a hard day yourself. Thank you for always wishing and praying God’s best for me. I keep your advice close to my heart. I’m grateful for everything you ever did for me— big or small. Thank you for my painting. I love you forever fam and we will see each other again.

To the Family— I may not have met you, but sometimes I feel like I have because just because of knowing D or the times he asked me to pray for many of you. He always wanted God’s best for people and for this world. Like my brother Toran said.... It’s okay to grieve. God is with you. You are in my prayers. □

“ Though we are apart from our brother now, the great memories we shared will always live on in our hearts and minds forever. Damian a*k*a "D" always brought warmth, light and a lot of laughter wherever he was.

To the family and friends, it's okay to feel sorrow during this time, but also to celebrate the life and happiness that Damian brought to us all in this world.

I feel he would want us you to remember the laughter and joy above all

-In Loving memory to my brother "D"
